

PHYSICIAN RECOGNITION AWARDS

The MidState Medical Center Physician Recognition Awards were established in 2008 and have since been presented each year at the Annual Medical Staff Meeting in December. In 2010, the Awards Steering Committee opened the nomination process to include MidState patients, their families and friends, and others in the communities we serve.

There are four awards, each named for a physician who in the past, distinguished himself while a member of the Medical Staff of the MidState Medical Center or predecessor hospitals. The awards and the criteria for selection for each award are summarized below.

Physicians may each be nominated for one or more award. Retired Physicians (Emeritus Staff) are not eligible. Please complete the Nomination Form and mail or fax it to the MidState Medical Staff Office before October 14, 2011.

The selection committees will make their decisions based on the information provided on the form, so please be as detailed as you can in describing your reasons for nomination. Examples of physician actions or behaviors that support the award criteria are always helpful.

NOMINATION CRITERIA

Matthew P. Campione, MD Community Service Award

This award is presented to a physician who has been instrumental in the development and support of community wellness and healthcare initiatives and/or participated in supporting political and legislative health care initiatives.

Joseph Goodman, MD Clinical Collaboration & Teamwork Award

This award is presented to a physician who has been a role model for teamwork in healthcare delivery and of respect and caring in interpersonal interactions. He/She may have facilitated cooperation between specialties and disciplines and promoted the concept of interdisciplinary cooperation and coordination.

Daniel Kahn, MD Clinical Quality Award

This award is presented to a physician who has promoted improvement in clinical quality and systems. He/she may have championed patient safety initiatives or facilitated establishment of "Best Practices" and or supported "Performance Improvement." This physician should have demonstrated consistently favorable patient outcomes.

David W. Parke, MD Leadership Award

This award is presented to a physician who has provided leadership for new initiatives and demonstrated a visionary approach to problem solving. He/She may have provided leadership to the Medical Staff or the broader medical community. He/She builds consensus amongst groups of physicians and other healthcare providers and may have participated in legislative and other political activities in support of health care.

